THE LEGENDARY DETAILS THAT MAKE A PAIR OF LEE JEANS

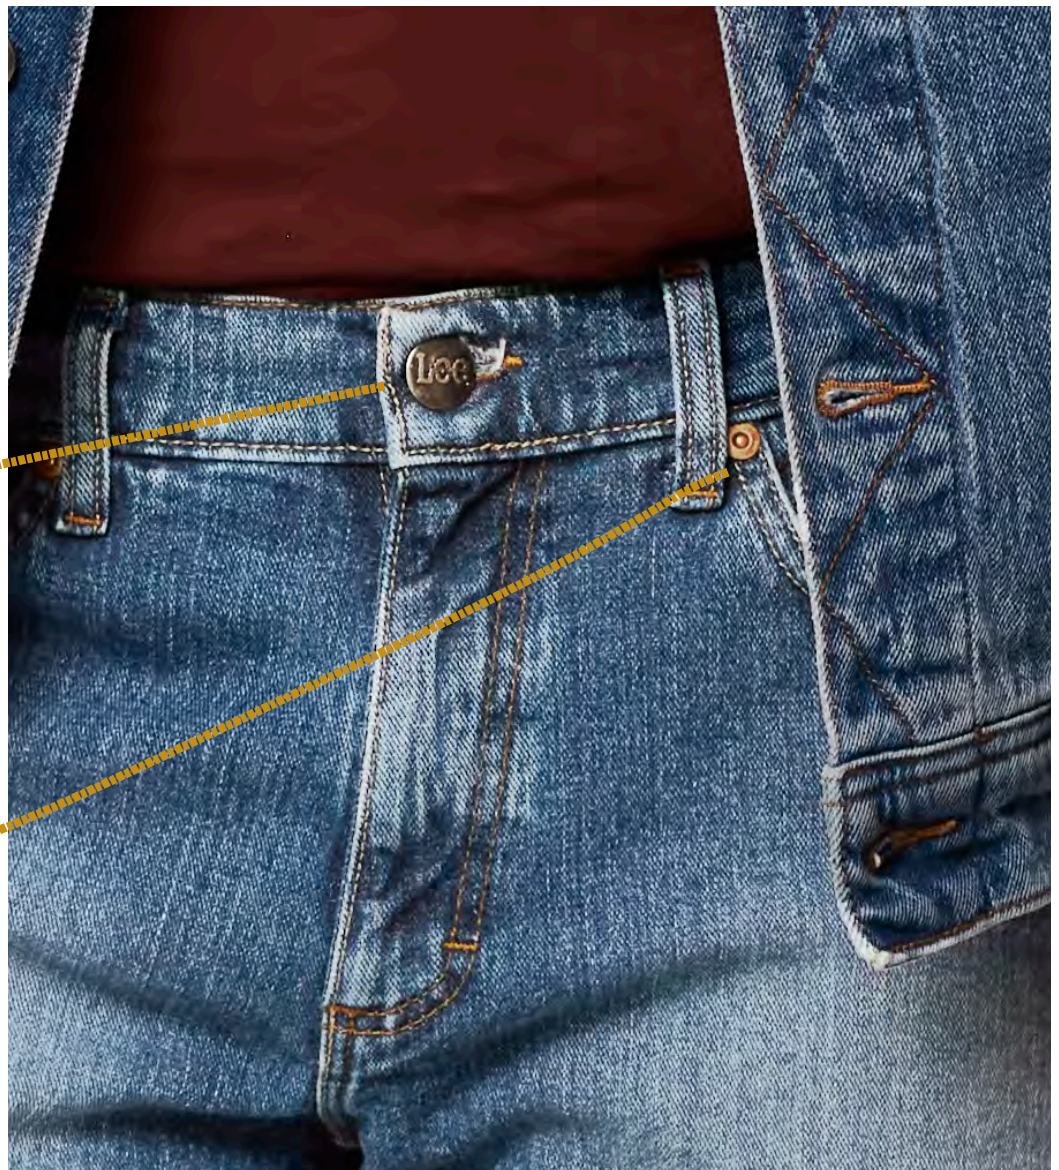

Nothing defines American style like denim. We were there in the beginning, growing this industry's roots and have since continued to evolve denim—the world's most beloved fashion statement. Today, the marks of our heritage and innovation hold true, and you'll find them in these signature details that are distinctly Lee.

LOGO BUTTON

Trademarked in 1946, the Lee “twitch” logo has long been an iconic emblem in American jeanswear. By 1949 the Lee Cowboy waistband button hardware was replaced with the Lee Riders insignia, the same waistband button that proudly displays the stand-alone Lee logo today.

LOGO RIVET

No detail is too small, and that is certainly true with the addition of our brand name to copper rivets in the '30s.

PATCH

After experimenting with different patch labels, Lee first introduced the branded leather patch with the “twitch” logo that we know today upon Lee Riders in 1945. The look quickly became synonymous with cowboy traditions of The West.

HIP POCKET LABEL

The year 1948 brought about a tiny-but-mighty addition to our on-garment branding: the hip pocket label, a small logo woven with goldenrod-colored thread that appeared after World War II on our Lee 101 jackets and jeans.

X-TACK

Initially, copper rivets were used to reinforce denim at key points of fabric strain. However, early rivets scratched highly-prized saddles. The solution? Our “X” stitched tacks replaced copper rivets on our back pockets by 1938.

S-CURVE

A wide variety of top-stitch pocket patterns, including the wide V, could be found on many denim brands through the mid-1940s. In 1946, Lee debuted the S-curve, which has been storied to either resemble the longhorns of a steer or the shape “of the back of an occupied saddle.”

SPADE POCKET

Officially introduced on Lee Rider Cowboy Pants in 1946, our spade pocket works wonders to give shape and definition to the posterior. The natural contours of the spade taper to give shape in the right place.

Workwear

What Makes A Workwear Icon

Lee has been setting the standard in iconic American denim and workwear since 1912, when H.D. Lee created the first bib overall.

Our craftsmanship and rugged durability are an unbreakable thread from our storied past, to the hard-working garments we make today.

These signature details are the proud marks of our heritage, as well as our commitment to utility and comfort for the builders of today, and tomorrow.

DUNGAREE BACK POCKET, WITH STRAIGHT STITCHING

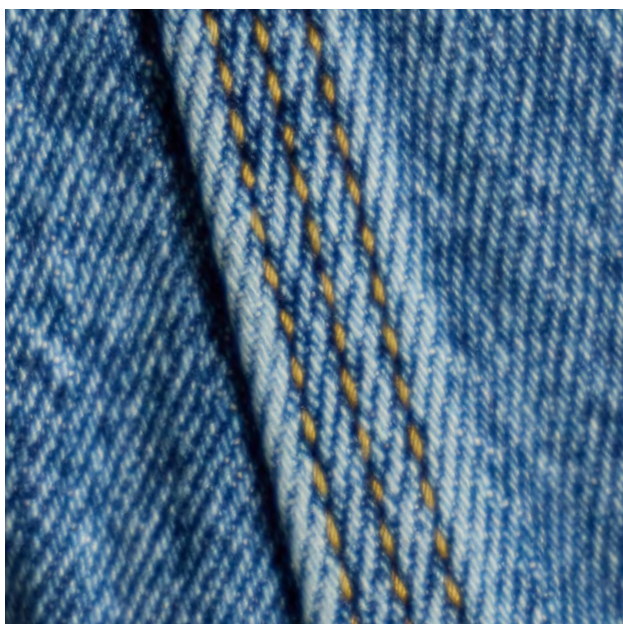

Harking back to our 1930s workwear garments, this is the classic pocket from Lee's overalls and dungarees.

Look for the straight top-stitching across the center, which reinforces the pocket: A sign of our signature strength.

INSIDE WOVEN LABEL

Bearing the legendary name of H. D. Lee and the date of our foundation (1889), Lee's inside woven label is not just a symbol of American denim and workwear heritage, but a beloved pop cultural icon.

TRIPLE NEEDLE STITCHING

A tell-tale detail on all classic Lee workwear garments, our triple needle stitching signifies our attention to style, as well as our rugged durability.

ANGLED BAR TACKS

Prioritizing comfort and strength, Lee replaced rivets on pockets long before the competition. To this day, our angled bar tack stitching helps reinforce pocket corners, reduces snagging and offers a superior feel. Every detail matters.

WORKWEAR POCKET LABEL

The workwear pocket label found on all of Lee's authentic workwear garments is designed with simplicity in mind; woven in our signature blue stitching

THE WORKWEAR SHANK BUTTON

The unmistakable mark of quality: Lee's statement shank button sets the standard for American style and durability.
